CHILDREN of— SPAIN

THE youngest children seem happy enough, but Mother and the older ones have sad faces—because they understand. Children of war-torn Spain they are refugees from the town of Irun, bombed by German and Italian planes. Fathers and husbands, yes, and mothers and little children too, have been murdered in this fiendish fashion. Food is scarce. For months there has been nothing but dried beans. The enemies of the Spanish people not only kill human beings, they machine-gun cattle and other live stock, bomb and fire crops and the forests, so that the gallant people they cannot defeat in battle will collapse of starvation. The war is not a civil war. It is international. Soldiers of Germany and Italy, and Moors from Northern Africa are sent to aid the rebel General Franco. English newspapers, with rare exceptions, try to hide Franco's barbarity and refer to his forces as "Nationalists" and the Government as "Reds." They know, but they don't want you to know, that the Spanish Government is made up of all parties from Catholic Conservatives to Communists. It unites the real patriots against the fascist invader.

Throughout the country Folk are helping in the good work of sending aid to Spain. Food, clothes, and cash have been collected. Let us know what you are doing NOW!

There is work for us to do. For nearly a year the war has been raging. Let us do what we can to see the truth is known about Spain, and when we read in our daily and evening papers of the "Reds" and "Nationalists" let us see who they are describing as "Reds." Is it not the ordinary people like ourselves? And who are the "Nationalists" they applaud? What are their aims and methods but those of gangsters. Let us finally ask ourselves, "Who owns the press we are reading, the ordinary people or the millionaires?" Then we shall be able to understand.

Meet Henry: The second Schindler

FORMER youth worker Henry Fair has just discovered he was on a Gestapo death notice — for masterminding a Schindler's List-style operation which rescued more than 1,000 children.

The Bruton town councillor helped save Czechoslovakian children from being killed by the Nazis in 1938.

When the Gestapo planned to kidnap a friend's children, Mr Fair had them smuggled to a youth camp in Belgium and then whisked across the Channel in secret. He then helped saved scores of other youngsters.

But it was only this month he discovered how big a thorn he was in Hitler's side.

A New York professor researching German Federal Archives discovered a file relating to the Nazi plan to create a master race.

Mr Fair's name was near the top of a Gestapo hit list, saying he should go before a firing squad.

Nazi plot to kill him

Yesterday the 88-year-old said: "When I remembered what the Gestapo had been capable of, I felt a sensation of shock on learning that I was a target."

"But on reflection, I consider it to be something of an honour to have been wanted by the Gestapo."

Mr Fair's heroism came when he was appointed the first full-time officer of the Woodcraft Folk in 1937 and he organised an international youth camp in Brighton.

Children from ten countries, including 300 from Czechoslovakia, attended. When they returned home, Hitler was invading their country.

"Because of the friendship with us, they asked us to help find safe homes for the children and as organiser, I did most of the work," explained Mr Fair.

"Even though those Czech refugees are now in their 60s and 70s and all over the world, I still get letters of thanks for what we did."

Gestapo hit list find 'honour' for Henry

Henry Fair, a wanted man.

The possibility of being hunted by the Gestapo could hardly have occurred to Henry Fair.

But, this summer, a professor from Vassar College, New York, researching in Potsdam, unearthed a file headed: Emigranten In Der CSR in which he found Henry's name on a list of people wanted by the Gestapo in 1939.

"I was quite amused to think someone like me was wanted by the Gestapo. I have no idea how they got my name," said Henry, of Bruton.

He believes the Gestapo's interest was a result of his activities in helping Czechoslovakian children to escape to England.

As the national organiser for an anti-fascist youth organisation, Woodcraft Folk, Henry was responsible for an international camp in Brighton, in 1937, which was attended by 2,000 children, 300 of whom were Czech.

In 1938, Germany moved into Czechoslovakia and many Czechs were sent to extermination camps.

By Andrew Jacques

Many of the children, who had been in Brighton, were orphaned, and wrote to the Woodcraft Folk asking for help.

As a result, 1,000 children were transported to England, 40 of whom were taken by Henry Fair and other local Woodcraft members.

But what may have annoyed the Gestapo even more was Henry's part in smuggling Toni Sender's children back to Blighty.

The Nazis believed they could get to Sender, an active socialist, by taking his children, but Henry was instrumental in getting them safely across the Channel.

Fifty years on, Henry is unphased by his notoriety with the Nazis.

"It was a bit of a shock at first, but now I see it as a real honour. Mind you, I'm glad I didn't know about the list in 1939, or I couldn't have left the house without looking over my shoulder," he said.

COUNCILLOR TOPPED NAZI
HIT LIST

Report by Kate Neill

IF the Gestapo had ever marched into London, Bruton councillor Henry Fair would have been among the first to be lined up and shot.

The 88-year-old town councillor was shocked to discover recently that his name was on a list of people wanted by the Gestapo in 1939.

A professor at Vassar College, New York, was undertaking research work at the Federal Archives in Potsdam, Germany, when he discovered an old file headed Emigranten In The CSR.

Among the list of Gestapo targets inside - and alongside illustrious anti-Fascists like Rudolf Hilferding and Ernst Reuter - was the name Henry Fair.

"I will not be having any sleepless nights over it. In fact, I consider it to be something of an honour to have been wanted by the Gestapo," said Mr Fair.

Mr Fair was involved in the Co-operative movement in the years before the war, organising national camps in England for some 300 Czechoslovakian children through the youth group Woodcraft Folk.

When the Czechs appealed for help to protect their children from the threat of Nazi occupation in late 1938/9, he was involved in a daring operation to bring more than 100 youngsters to England.

"They were brought over by special train called the Kindertransport," he said. "I didn't go to Czechoslovakia myself. The man who went to Prague was a city stockbroker called Mr Winton. He got together various organisations there to try and get the children out.

"At the same time, we got together all sorts of organisations, including the Church, to get the children looked after when they arrived in England. War wasn't declared then, but it was a dangerous operation."

In 1991, Mr Fair travelled to Czechoslovakia for a reunion with 30 of the evacuees, all now in their 60s and 70s.

"It was very emotional. Many are married now and living in Italy, Germany and Austria," he said.

"We went to the extermination camp in Terizin where a lot of their parents perished. We saw the ovens and the tables where they put the bodies to cut off their hair and pull out their teeth."

Mr Fair has lived in Bruton since moving from South London in 1972.

His wife died 12 years ago and he has three children and four grown-up grandchildren.

He continued to work with young people after 1939, organising youth camps throughout the war and up until retirement.

"It was a shock to find that I was listed by the Gestapo. They never got me, but if they had got into England, obviously the story would have been a lot different," he said.

● NAZI TARGET: Bruton town councillor Henry Fair.

● FIRING SQUAD: The fate awaiting Henry Fair if the Gestapo death squad had reached Britain.

Dear Friend,

AN URGENT S.O.S. TO YOU.

In many towns and cities the film "BLOCKADE" (which portrays the suffering caused by the war in Spain) has been used by local committees to raise funds for Aid for Spain, and in every case has met with success. This film is coming to the Central Picture House, Sheffield, for the week commencing October 10th.

A very satisfactory arrangement has been arrived at between the above Council and the manager of the Cinema. We are to advertise the film throughout the week by means of a loudspeaker van covered with posters. In return for this, the manager is allowing collections to be taken actually inside the building and will show a trailer immediately after the film asking people to give generously to the collectors.

This is a wonderful opportunity, but its success depends entirely upon the number of people who turn up to help with the collections. Therefore, we are inviting you to help us with this effort for Spain by coming along to the Cinema and assisting with the collections.

Will you please let me know on the form below on which evenings you can turn up. Please volunteer to come every evening if you possibly can, and especially make an effort to come on Saturday and Thursday evenings when the crowds will be the largest. It will be necessary for some stewards to be present all evening as the show is continuous and people will be going in and out all the time.

In the present state of international affairs this effort may seem rather a small contribution towards bringing peace back to the world, but it is a contribution. In our preoccupation with our own troubles, LET US NOT FORGET SPAIN'S CHILDREN.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir (or Madam),

We are glad to announce that £1200 worth of cargo has been sent to Spain from Sheffield on the foodship which left Hull this month. Encouraged by the quick and generous response to this appeal, we are anxious to continue the work so well begun.

By the time you get this letter, the £1200 cargo will have reached Valencia and probably already have been consumed.

Wouldn't you like to ensure that one child at least will not go hungry when that cargo is finished? We have a scheme which will make this possible.

2/- will provide one child in Spain with milk for one month. Books of vouchers for this will be provided from this office. In this way individual children can be 'adopted', that is assured by you of sufficient milk to save them from starvation.

The Bishop of Sheffield has started off the scheme by himself 'adopting' a child for one year. How many will you or your organization adopt?

Please return the enclosed form as quickly as ever possible. Children are starving while you hesitate.

Greetings Comrade,

Czech Red Falcon Relief

You will remember that in September, I issued an appeal for assistance to our unfortunate comrades of Czechoslovakia and as a result of this, we collected nearly £50 and were offered hospitality for over 40 children.

Unfortunately, the restrictions and requirements laid down by the authorities prevented us from filling the places offered. One of the conditions made was that the person offering hospitality should deposit £50 as a guarantee. Thanks however to the untiring work of our Czech comrade, Vicki Schless, we have now been able to overcome all obstacles and so we ~~once~~ again appeal to you to consider whether you or friends in your locality could adopt or offer hospitality to these unfortunate children.

The only conditions now laid down is that persons offering hospitality obtain two references that they are fit and proper persons to have a child, that they shall see that it is educated (i.e. send it to a school such as a L.C.C. or Council school) and that they shall take the child until 18 years of age.

I would stress that the need for help is still as urgent as ever. With the tightening of Hitler's grip on Czechoslovakia, the conditions of these poor children grow steadily worse and unless sufficient help is forthcoming, it is inevitable that they will be absorbed into the Fascist controlled children's and youth movements and receive a fascist training. I should be glad therefore if you will let me know if you can help in this direction and in cases where you offered to have a child, to make a fresh application giving details of whether boy or girl can be taken and what age preferred.

Friendship and solidarity,

Henry Fair "Koodoo"

Dear Mr. Rawson,

Mr. and Mrs. Ehrmann, my brother and sister in law, sent letters to my friend Mr. H. Klinkhoff in Zurich, which were really addressed to Susee. I forward Mrs. Ehrmann's letter enclosed. Against that I translated Mr. Ehrmann's lines because this was written down at a letter of my wife with a very important contents for me.

I am very glad to be able to forward these letter to Susee and the best regards and hearty thanks of Susee's parents to you and Mrs. Rawson for your extraordinary kindness.

I myself follow with my best wishes to you and Mrs. Rawson and can only pray, that your very good behaviour and kindness to the poor girl will bring you happiness and blessing. You as we couldn't suppose, that your welcome of Susee on June 1939 would become the beginning of such a long time of hospitality. I can only hope and wish that Susee is honest and doesn't make trouble and brings you joy in your house.

I am very afraid, that these letters from Prague could be the last possibility to get news from my relatives. They are in a very bad situation now and nobody can say, what they will suffer by the barbarity of the Nazis. We can't bring any help or even only an advice from here. We can only hope, that the poor relatives will get over this worst time without greater harm at the body and soul. You can imagine, how worried I am about the events in my country.

I am sorry, that I was not able to visit you again up to date. But I hope, that a possibility will come soon, to do so. I would be very glad to call and see you again for such a long time.

Dear Mr. Rawson,

The above committee has recently been formed to undertake the responsibility for refugee children in the East and West Ridings of Yorkshire. This authority has been delegated to it by the headquarters of the Movement for the Care of Children from Germany, which finds it more satisfactory to decentralise its work in this way.

The first work of the new committee is thus to check all the addresses of the refugee children whom we understand to be living within the region, so that when these are confirmed the children's records may be sent down from London, to be kept and dealt with here in the future. Work for the children is generally undertaken in each of the many districts in the region by local committees, and the lists of the children, allocated to their local committees, which have been issued from London need to be altered and amended in certain cases. This contact between the hosts of refugee children, aided by the local committees is found to work very satisfactorily. It is hoped that the new regional committee, which is representative of the local committees will be able to give further advice and assistance as required for the care, education and training of the refugee children in the area, who number about five hundred.

If it happens that you are not in touch with any local committee, we will inform that committee of your address. In some districts no local committee is yet in existence, but it is hoped to form such a committee shortly. An important part of the work both of the local and of the regional committees is to forward the six-monthly report on the health and general situation of each child, which the Movement for the Care of Children insists upon.

We understand that you have in your care

She is in good health at present, and is in attendance at a local school.

She has been visited once by an uncle who is also a Refugee in London.

Very many thanks for your kind letter. I am so glad, that Lusi is staying with you and feels at home over there. She informed me in her last report, that she expects your soon return.

I was glad to get letters from Mrs. Hull and Mr. Kilicid. They seem to be quite satisfied with my little girl and I trust you also will not be inconvenienced by Lusi.

Mr. Kilicid wrote to me he would try to find a job for me in England, so that one day we should meet again with Lusi. You will see what it means to a mother, I am sure of it.

Does Lusi speak English with you? And is there an improvement to see? I should be very much obliged if you would kindly look after my girl, whether she washes herself properly and cleans her nails. You know how children are. Lusi suffered three years ago from acute pneumonia and ought to take care of herself.

I hope all of you are well. There are no words to express you my gratitude for all, you do for my child.

DECEMBER, 1938

KOODOO writes on THE TRAGEDY OF THE CZECHS.

I SUPPOSE there must be a good number of the Pioneers who read this mag. who were at Brighton in 1937 and thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

I wonder what you remember most about it. Was it the noise and bustle at every meal time? Was it the fun we had in the evenings in the dip? Or was it the envy with which you watched those Czech children blowing those trumpets, cornets, &c., and playing all types of musical instruments.

Do you remember that little child who used to sit on the shoulders of the tall fellow, banking her cymbals? She was great, I thought. She knew exactly when and how often to bang them together. And then of course there were all the other Czech children who were not in the band. Do you remember Willi Hocke, their leader, who made himself hoarse and nearly lost his voice through acting in the dip?

I expect that you can all call them to mind now, their beautiful clean camp village, notice board, their dancing, &c.

I wonder, however, how many of you have vaguely linked them up with all the stories that you have been reading of Czechoslovakia in the newspapers this last few weeks. For those who have wondered if the friends you met at Brighton were involved in the affair, let me tell you at once, they were! Right up to the neck. Oh! you will say, "I bet they didn't half have an exciting time. There must have been lots of soldiers about and fancy expecting a war in your own town."

Well Pioneers, it was exciting but it was not enjoyable, you can take it from me. You see, I have had a visit from one of our friends from Prague (that is the capital of Czechoslovakia) and also a letter from Willi Hocke.

Of the thousands of children that were in the Red Falcons, there are now only five groups with a membership of just over a hundred. Over 120 groups have been closed down. "Why?" you might ask. The fact is that all the groups that have had to be closed were in that part of the country that is now controlled by Hitler and he does not like the Red Falcons. In fact, he has had many of the leaders of the groups who came to Brighton, arrested and put in prison.

The fathers of hundreds of those children who came to Brighton have had to flee the country to save their lives just because they were Socialists and their children belonged to the Red Falcons.

Just imagine it. Supposing it was in England and suddenly one day your father had to leave you and escape to France to save his life. Perhaps your mother has to go too, if she was a member of the Guild or Labour Party.

Your dinner, your tea, your home. What would become of them? Who would look after you? Well, that's the position in Czechoslovakia to-day. Hundreds of the Red Falcons do not know where their next meal is going to come from. Already some hundreds have been sent into Belgium, so that they can live at least safely, if not in comfort. Fancy having to go and live in a country, miles away from your friends, unable to speak the language of your new country.

Now Pioneers, they need our help. They can only stay in Belgium providing they can be supplied with food, blankets, shelter, &c., and that all takes money. They have asked me if I can collect some for them from their fellow comrades of the Woodcraft Folk. I think I can, I know I can, and I am asking you now, to save up your halfpennies or if you are rich, your pennies, and give them to your Headman to send to me. Your pals, boys, and girls of that sad country, need our help. They are co-operative and socialist children. So are you. Well get together and help each other. "Freundschaft" the cry of the International Camp means "Friendship" and friendship means help for them in their time of need. Don't forget, I'm waiting for those halfpennies, the price of a lollipop, from you. Give it to your Headman at the next meeting. O.K.?

KOODOO.

Well done – you solved the puzzle.
We were Pioneers during the time of the Second World War.
Across Europe, many children had to leave their homes because their families were in danger. Woodcrafters around Britain opened their doors to refugee children from Spain, Germany, Czechoslovakia and other places.

Since those days, the folk has continued to offer the hand of friendship to children and young people forced to flee their homes. In recent years groups have sent educational supplies to the Solomon Mahlangu Freedom College in Tanzania which provided a safe home and school for children whose lives had been in danger from the apartheid regime in South Africa.

Woodcraft folk groups have brought children from the refugee camps of the Western Sahara to Britain for summer visits - offering them a break from the baking heat of their desert exile. Their country continues to be illegally occupied by the Kingdom of Morocco.

Likewise, the folk has shown its support and solidarity for the young people of Palestine who continue to suffer daily violence at the hands of the Israeli forces.

We hope that the stories you have read here will inspire you to do whatever you can to help and support young refugees in your own community. Remember the Woodcraft folk's motto:
